By 12-13 years old, children spend on average up to 30% of their daily waking time on screens.

Source: Longitudinal Study of Australian Children 2015 Annual Statistical Report, Australian children’s screen time and participation in extracurricular activities