

Australian Government

NATIONAL ARCHIVES
OF AUSTRALIA

Records Authority

2010/00698490

Australian Institute of Family Studies

Research and Research Communication

This is an accurate reproduction of the authorised records authority content, created for accessibility purposes

2017

Change History

Each entry in this table has been authorised under the Archives Act 1983.

Introduction, application notes and authorisations are not part of this document and can be viewed in the respective records authority (as issued). Please contact the National Archives' Agency Service Centre for further information.

Date	Change details
4 January 2017	Class 21916 has been replaced by class 62246 issued under RA 2016/00615432

© Commonwealth of Australia (National Archives of Australia) 2017

Copyright

This product, excluding the National Archives of Australia logo, Commonwealth Coat of Arms or registered trademark, has been licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-Non-Commercial (CC-BY-NC) Version 4.0 International Licence. You may share, copy, redistribute, remix, transform and build upon this work for non-commercial purposes only. However, you must attribute the National Archives of Australia as the copyright holder of the original work, include the attribution as set out below and indicate if changes were made. The full terms and conditions of this licence are available at www.creativecommons.org.

Attribution

This records authority is licenced by the Commonwealth of Australia (National Archives of Australia) under a Creative Commons Attribution-Non-Commercial (CC-BY-NC) Version 4.0 International Licence. The original version can be found on our website.

Accessibility

This is an accurate reproduction of the authorised records authority content, created for accessibility purposes.

Contact Us

Enquiries relating to copyright or accessibility should be emailed to recordkeeping@naa.gov.au.

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION _____ 5

APPLICATION OF THIS AUTHORITY _____ 5

CONTACT INFORMATION _____ 6

RESEARCH _____ 7

RESEARCH COMMUNICATION _____ 10

INTRODUCTION

The Australian Institute of Family Studies and the National Archives of Australia have developed this Records Authority to set out the requirements for keeping or destroying records for the core business areas of Research, and Research Communication. It represents a significant commitment on behalf of the Australian Institute of Family Studies to understand, create and manage the records of its activities.

This Authority is based on the identification and analysis of the business of the Institute of Family Studies. It takes into account the agency's legal and organisational Information management requirements, and the interests of stakeholders, the agency and the National Archives of Australia.

The Authority sets out those records that need to be retained as national archives and specifies the minimum length of time that temporary records need to be kept. This Authority gives Institute of Family Studies permission under the Archives Act 1983, for the destruction of the temporary records described after the minimum retention period has expired. Retention periods for these temporary records are based on: an assessment of business needs; broader organisational accountability requirements; and community expectations, and are approved by the National Archives of Australia on the basis of information provided by the agency.

As changes in circumstances may affect future Information management requirements, the periodic review of this Authority is recommended. All amendments must be approved by the National Archives.

APPLICATION OF THIS AUTHORITY

1. This Authority supersedes Records Authority 652 (1990). The superseded Records Authority can no longer be used by the Australian Institute of Family Studies to sentence records after the date of issue of this Authority.
2. This records authority is to be used to determine how long records must be kept. Records are matched to the relevant core business and records class in the records authority.
 - Where the minimum retention period has expired and the records are not needed for agency business they should be destroyed as authorised in this Authority;
 - Records that have not reached the minimum retention period must be kept until they do; and
 - Records that are identified as 'retain as national archives' are to be transferred to the National Archives of Australia for preservation.
3. This records authority should be used in conjunction with general records authorities such as:
 - the Administrative Functions Disposal Authority (AFDA) and/or AFDA Express issued by the National Archives to cover business processes and records common to Australian Government agencies; and
 - General Records Authority (31) - Destruction of source or original records after digitisation, conversion or migration (2015)
4. The normal administrative practice (NAP) provision of the Archives Act 1983 gives agencies permission to destroy certain records without formal authorisation. This usually occurs where records are duplicated, facilitative or for short-term use only. NAP does not replace arrangements agreed to in this records authority but can be used as a tool to assist in identifying records for destruction together with an agency's records authority or authorities, and with AFDA and AFDA Express. The National Archives recommends that agencies develop and implement a NAP policy. Advice and guidance on destroying records as a normal administrative practice and on how to develop an agency NAP policy is available from the National Archives' website at www.naa.gov.au
5. Records that are reasonably likely to be needed as evidence in a current or future judicial proceeding or are subject to a request for access under the Archives Act 1983, the Freedom of Information Act 1982 or any other relevant act must not be destroyed until the action has been completed.
6. Records subject to a disposal freeze must not be destroyed until the freeze has been lifted. Further information about disposal freezes and whether they affect the application of this authority is available from the National Archives website at www.naa.gov.au
7. Where the method of recording information changes (for example from a manual system to an electronic system, or when information is migrated from one system to a new system) this authority can still be applied, providing the records document the same core business. The information must be accessible for the period of time prescribed in this records authority. The Australian Institute of Family Studies will need to maintain continuing access to the information, including digital information, for the periods prescribed in this records authority or until the information is transferred into the custody of the National Archives.

8. In general, retention requirements indicate a minimum period for retention. The Australian Institute of Family Studies may extend minimum retention periods if it considers that there is an administrative need to do so, without further reference to the National Archives. Where the Australian Institute of Family Studies believes that its accountability will be substantially compromised because a retention period or periods are not adequate, it should contact the National Archives for review of the retention period.

9. Records coming within 'retain as national archives' classes in this records authority have been determined to be part of the archival resources of the Commonwealth under section 3C of the Archives Act 1983. The determination of Commonwealth records as archival resources of the Commonwealth obliges agencies to transfer the records to the National Archives when they cease to be current and, in any event, within 15 years of the records coming into existence, under section 27 of the Archives Act 1983.

10. Records in the care of agencies should be appropriately stored, managed and preserved. Agencies need to meet this obligation to ensure that the records remain authentic and accessible over time. Under Section 31 of the Archives Act 1983, access arrangements are required for records that become available for public access including those records that remain in agency custody.

11. Appropriate arrangements should be made with the National Archives when records are to be transferred into custody. The National Archives accepts for transfer only those records designated as national archives.

12. Advice on how to use this records authority is available from the Australian Institute of Family Studies information manager. If there are problems with the application of the authority that cannot be resolved, please contact the National Archives.

CONTACT INFORMATION

For assistance with this authority or for advice on other information management matters, please contact National Archives' Agency Service Centre.

Queen Victoria Terrace
Parkes ACT 2600
PO Box 7425
Canberra Business Centre ACT 2610

Email: recordkeeping@naa.gov.au
Website: www.naa.gov.au

RESEARCH

The core business of undertaking research projects is to gain an understanding of the factors that affect families. Includes activities such as entering into agreements with government departments, not for profit agencies and other organisations both as a provider of research services, and as a commissioner of work; entering into partnerships with government departments, not for profit agencies and other organisations to undertake co-research or collaboration where there is a joint contribution of funds and/or time; and the collection, management, preservation, security and access to research data.

Also includes ensuring research undertaken involving human participants is approved by the organisation's ethics committee by requiring researchers to submit project proposals for approval, and once approved, providing reports on project progress.

This work includes the following specific research related tasks:

- evaluating research needs, research performed and research proposals
- research planning and design
- research data collection, administration, management, conservation, analysis, processing, access, transfer, inventories and storage
- reporting on the progress of research and on research outcomes
- managing research participants
- developing fieldwork instruments
- management of research misconduct

This work also includes the specific tasks of:

- giving and receiving advice
- negotiating and establishing agreements with research providers and commissioners
- managing committees
- obtaining and maintaining ethics committee approvals
- managing partnerships
- undertaking risk management

The undertaking of the core business is supported by routine administrative tasks such as:

- making routine arrangements
- managing meetings
- developing policies and procedures

For the records of the organisation's Advisory Council, use ADVISORY BODIES.

For the records of the organisation's Risk Assessment and Audit Committee, use GOVERNING BODIES.

For grants administered by the organisation, use GRANT MANAGEMENT.

For grants where the organisation is applying for funds, use AFDA/AFDA Express – COMMUNITY RELATIONS.

For managing the acquisition of goods and services, and tendering and contracting arrangements to support the Research function, use AFDA/AFDA Express – PROCUREMENT.

For managing financial transactions supporting Research activities, use AFDA/AFDA Express – FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT.

For major security breaches where classified records and information have been removed from official custody and passed to a third party, use AFDA/AFDA Express – INFORMATION MANAGEMENT.

RESEARCH

Class no	Description of records	Disposal action
21910	The following significant records: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • advice to stakeholders informed by or based on research and/or research processes that results in change to current government policy or programs; • committees, such as reference or advisory groups, ethics and other high level committees. Includes establishment records, final minutes and supporting papers, final ethics committee policies, final reports, application assessment for ethics approval for research projects that involve human participation, liaison with subject experts and complaints records; • ad hoc or non-ongoing meetings of a significant nature that influence the direction of the research core business; • partnership arrangements and agreements which are controversial, long-term, are the subject of extensive debate, arouse widespread interest or involve eminent researchers; or relate to research that has community or heritage value; • research policies; • research project case files that are either controversial, long-term, are the subject of extensive debate, arouse widespread interest or involve eminent researchers; or if the work has continuing value. Includes final research reports and supporting research data analysis, participant management records and fieldwork materials such as study instruments, internal approvals, and research planning and design; and • de-identified research datasets from significant projects where there is no possibility of identification of participants in the dataset and there are no restrictions on the release data. 	Retain as national archives
21911	Records that facilitate the replication, verification and extension of research relating to projects that are NOT either controversial, long-term, are the subject of extensive debate, arouse widespread interest or involve eminent researchers; or if the work has no community, heritage or continuing value to Australia: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • final research reports; • research data or source analysis, including both collected statistical data and review of source case files, including analysis code and procedures/methods • fieldwork materials including instruments used in a study including questionnaires, surveys, scripts, plain language statements, training manuals; and • research data not covered in class 21910. 	Destroy 99 years after action completed
21912	Records documenting research participant management relating to projects that are NOT either controversial, long-term, are the subject of extensive debate, arouse widespread interest or involve eminent researchers; or if the work has no community or heritage value and has no continuing value to Australia; including pre-interview letters, consent forms and gifts (ie a fieldwork pack).	Destroy 15 years after action completed

RESEARCH

Class no	Description of records	Disposal action
21913	Records documenting the evaluation and ongoing monitoring of research projects, processes, systems etc.	Destroy 10 years after action completed
21914	Records documenting the collection of data from research participants. Includes: questionnaires; voice recordings of interviews and any other facilitative collection tools where data is transferred into other formats for the purpose of analysis.	Destroy 24 hours after data is transferred from collection tool, de-identified and quality checked
21915	Records documenting: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• routine operational and administrative tasks supporting the research core business; and• routine research activities, other than those covered in classes 21910 to 21914. Excludes all research datasets.	Destroy 7 years after action completed

RESEARCH COMMUNICATION

The core business of facilitating the dissemination of information that is the product of research to policy makers, service providers and the broader community. Includes the activities of entering into agreements with other government departments and not for profit agencies both as a provider and as a commissioner of research communication products and services; entering into partnerships with third parties to develop research communication products and services where there is a joint contribution of funds and/or time; and communicating results of research to the government, Parliament, the Ministers and other stakeholders on the research it undertakes and coordinates and its relevance to current policy by providing advice on relevant topics.

The work includes the specific tasks of:

- making presentations (addresses)
- giving and receiving advice
- managing committees
- managing community consultation
- arranging and managing internal conferences
- developing and promoting educational resources and programs
- evaluating research communication programs
- implementation of plans, policies and procedures
- liaising with related national and international institutions
- marketing of activities, products, services and programs
- media relations
- managing partnerships
- planning
- receiving and managing public reaction
- developing publications
- reporting on the progress and outcomes of research communication activities
- managing representatives

The performance of the business is supported by routine administrative tasks such as:

- making arrangements
- conducting audits
- authorising delegations of power to agency staff
- arranging attendance at external conferences
- receiving and responding to enquiries
- managing meetings
- developing policies
- developing procedures
- arrangements for visits made to the agency and by agency staff to external organisations

For managing the acquisition of goods and services, and tendering and contracting arrangements to support the Research Communication function, use AFDA/AFDA Express – PROCUREMENT.

For managing financial transactions supporting Research activities, use AFDA/AFDA Express – FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT.

RESEARCH COMMUNICATION

For submissions to government, parliamentary or other inquiries, use AFDA/AFDA Express – GOVERNMENT RELATIONS.

For activities supporting the arrangement and management of events, celebrations and ceremonies including official openings; and routine greetings such as Christmas cards use AFDA/AFDA Express – COMMUNITY RELATIONS.

Class no	Description of records	Disposal action
62246	The following significant records documenting: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • advice that is controversial, subject to government level scrutiny, innovative and/or high profile with a significant social benefit to Australia; • internal approvals, including those that outline the justification for the development of publications; • committee agendas and minutes, where the agency provides the secretariat, is the Commonwealth's main representative or plays a significant role; • community consultation processes which involved extensive interaction on programs or activities which elicited strong community reaction, such as seeking feedback on research plans from academics, practitioners and the public; • significant, non-administrative records of conferences held by the agency; • liaison activities undertaken with national and international related institutions i.e. professional associations, organisations, educational organisations and community groups; • partnerships which are controversial, long-term, are the subject of extensive debate, arouse widespread interest or involve eminent researchers; or relate to research that has community or heritage value; • research communication policies; • presentations that reflect major or long-term projects, policy changes presented by senior agency officers that are controversial, the subject of extensive debate or arouse widespread interest; • receiving and managing high-level public reaction that is controversial or of significant public interest, or results in significant changes to agency policy and programs; • final versions of publications produced to disseminate research; and • non-administrative records documenting liaison with the media, such as final interview transcripts and recordings of television or radio interviews. [For the master set of media releases, use AFDA/AFDA Express – COMMUNITY RELATIONS. For visitors books and other visit related material, use AFDA/AFDA Express – COMMUNITY RELATIONS. For activities supporting the establishment of the organisation, use AFDA/AFDA Express – ESTABLISHMENT.]	Retain as national archives

RESEARCH COMMUNICATION

21917	Records documenting: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• committees where AIFS does not provide the secretariat, is not the Commonwealth's main representative and does not play a significant role;• education resources and programs development for the purpose of raising awareness, and facilitating the dissemination of research;• evaluation of agency programs and operations supporting the research communication function. Includes documents establishing the review, final report and action plan;• research communication procedures;• marketing of the agencies activities; and stakeholder communication for the research communication function.	Destroy 15 years after last action completed
21918	Records documenting: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• routine operational and administrative tasks supporting the research communication core business; and routine research communication activities, other than those covered in classes 21916 and 21917.	Destroy 7 years after last action completed